4 PM FORUM: “WHO ARE YOU, REALLY? THE PUZZLE OF PERSONALITY”. TED talk by Brian Little, Personality Researcher and Professor at Cambridge . (6/2016)

What makes you, you? Psychologists like to talk about our traits, or defined characteristics that make us who we are. But Brian Little is more interested in moments when we transcend those traits—sometimes because our culture demands it of us, and sometimes because we demand it of ourselves. Join Little as he dissects the surprising differences between introverts and extroverts and explains why your personality may be more malleable than you think.

When a visitor walks through our door for the first time, he or she may have only a vague idea about who we are and why we're here. This person may have certain expectations, or perhaps no preconceptions at all. We can be more welcoming if we ourselves have a clear understanding of our "mission".
